

Manzanilla 'La Guita' and Nibbles

£15.50

Get your taste buds tingling and prepare your appetite for more to come with our pre-dinner aperitif. "La Guita" is recognised as one of the best Manzanillas and is similar to dry sherry. This quarter bottle (200ml) is served chilled, and its dry, crisp, tanginess is complemented by a sharing bowl of our home pickled shallots, olives in our own marinade, salted smoked almonds. Perfect for four or a more generous portion for two.

Ferreira Tawny Port

£3.25

Ferreira was the first producer of port; it was founded by Portuguese wine producers in 1751.

It was Dona Antonia Adelaide Ferreira, the great-granddaughter of the founder and a widow at 33 years of age, who devoted all of her energy into building Ferreira.

Today, more than just the number one brand in Portugal, Ferreira is considered by the Portuguese to be part of the country's cultural heritage.

Nero d'Avola
'Regaleali'
Tasca d'Almerita, Italy

One of Sicily's very best estates produces this first class wine from the native Sicilian red grape, Nero d'Avola. Dark, dense and full of flavour with a silky finish from an historic, noble estate established in 1950. The wine is seen in very fine Italian restaurants in this country and around the world. The winery also houses one of Italy's best cookery schools founded by the late Anna Tasca Lanza who wrote the definitive books on the cuisine of the island, The Heart of Sicily and The Flavours of Sicily. The estate has been awarded 'Italian Winery of the Year 2012' by Gambero Rosso, Italy's most respected wine guide. See our food menu for our version of her recipes to compliment this wine.
